

Yasin Simsek

Last Updated: June 2026 (Click here for the latest version)

3100 Wyman Park Drive, Baltimore, MD | yasin.simsek@duke.edu | yasin-simsek.github.io

Employment

Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore - US

July 2026 – present

Postdoctoral Fellow

Education

Duke University, Durham - US

2020 – 2026

PhD in Economics

- Dissertation: “Essays in Financial Econometrics”.
- Committee: Andrew J. Patton (chair), Tim Bollerslev, Anna Cieslak, Anna Bykhovskaya.

Koc University, Istanbul - Turkey

2018 – 2021

MA in Economics

Bilkent University, Ankara - Turkey

2013 – 2018

BA in Economics

Working Papers

- “Spot Regressions with Candlesticks”, 2026.
- “Intraday Variation in Systematic Risks and Information Flows” (with Andrew J. Patton), 2025.

Publications

- “Generalized Autoregressive Trees and Forests” (with Andrew J. Patton), 2026, Journal of Business and Economic Statistics, forthcoming.
- “Bridging the Covid-19 data and the epidemiological model using the time-varying parameter SIRD model” (with Cem Cakmakli), 2024, Journal of Econometrics, 242/1.

Professional Activities

Referee Service: Journal of Econometrics $\times 2$, Journal of Financial Econometrics, The European Journal of Finance

Presentations

2026: Erasmus University Rotterdam, Aarhus University, Toulouse School of Economics, QFFE 2026 Conference (Marseille).

2025: Duke University, 2025 Triangle Econometrics Conference, 2025 SoFiE Annual Meeting, NBER-NSF Time Series Conference.

2024: Duke University, VTSS Workshop for Junior Researchers in Time Series, 2024 IAAE Annual Meeting, SoFiE Summer School (Kellogg).

2023: Duke University, Triangle Econometrics Conference (UNC Chapel Hill), 2023 IAAE Annual Meeting

Teaching Experience

Investments and Financial Markets (Teaching Assistant - 2023, 2024, 2025): Taught by Tim Bollerslev covering basic results on portfolio optimization and asset pricing. Lectures included theory and computational exercises.

Time Series Econometrics (Teaching Assistant - 2023, 2024, 2025): Taught by Anna Bykhovskaya covering fundamental concepts in time series and economic forecasting. Lectures included theory and computational exercises.

Math Camp for Economics PhD (Instructor - 2023, 2024): Covering essential topics in real analysis, measure theory, linear algebra and optimization for incoming PhD students.

Other Information

Programming: Python, R, Matlab, LaTeX

Languages: Turkish (native), English (fluent)

References

Andrew J. Patton

Department of Economics
Duke University
andrew.patton@duke.edu

Tim Bollerslev

Department of Economics
Duke University
boller@duke.edu

Anna Bykhovskaya

Department of Economics
Duke University
anna.bykhovskaya@duke.edu

Domenico Giannone

Department of Economics
Johns Hopkins University
domenico.giannone@jhu.edu